OUTFITTERS FOR WOMEN ONLY.

Nothing short of the miracle of the loaves and fishes will make the pie go around.

All the pie-hunters are about in from Washington and the price of soothing syrup has advanced.

The oldest inhabitant states that we have had our "Easter spell", and may now expect some good weather.

From the number of tobacco canvases to be seen in the country, we are to have a bumper tobacco crop this year.

Lancaster admirers of Ireland's patron saint were "wearing of the green" last Monday in celebration of St. Patrick's day.

Local fishermen are anxiously observing wind and weather, and many have already been heard to remark "they'd bite today".

Time for spring cleaning is at hand. Some vigorous work along this line may prevent considerable disease during the heated weather.

The new school building is rapidly nearing completion. Let's have a big "dinner on the ground" spread dedication day.

The number of local automobile owners is to be materially augmented if the "prospective buyers" told of by the agents become actual owners.

Hats for Easter will be small, but the most artistic ever. There'll be no switches and rats under the new hat, for the simple reason there'll be no room for 'em.

Colonel George Washington Goethals took charge of the Panama canal six years ago as chief engineer, he is therefore responsible for the excavation of more earth than any one man in the world.

Prof. Mark, State Sanitary Engineer has under preparation for the City Council plans for a filter, that will filter and work will begin as soon as he has finished his work and forwarded the specifications.

Intermittently, as the weather will permit, the builders hammer is to be heard, and the outlook is for the erection of many new buildings in and about Lancaster with the coming of suitable weather.

One of the mottoes on the Presidents wall reads like this: "All hope abandoned ye who enter here". So stay at home and commune with him by means of thought waves, which are not so expensive and just as effective.

It is gratifying to her host of friends here to learn that Mrs. Cleo Brown of Mt. Vernon, will get the appointment of Postmistress at that place. Senator James recommended her appointment Saturday, which will be made in due time.

Fashion Notes.

The prettiest thing in Easter hats, Next Easter morn, I ween; Undoubtedly is bound to be, The face of—Kathleen.

Judge John W. Hughes, of Harrodsburg, who is an applicant for Internal Revenue Collector in the Danville district, expresses himself as being well satisfied with his chances since Champ Clark is for him.

No one of the pretty Easter customs appeals more keenly to us than the sending of Easter flowers to your lady love and potted plants to the "shut-ins". And, in spite of the early date, florists will be ready with blossoms in all their splendor and perfection.

One of the beautiful new colors is the Nell rose, but never have we seen a more wonderful showing of color in costumes and trimming. Blue and its infinite variety of shades, the lovely wisteria, new shades of grays and reds will appeal to the feminine eye.

The small boy who asked his father the difference between capital and labor, was answered in this way: "when a young man sits in a parlor talking nonsense to his best girl—that's capital. When he stays at home evenings after they are married—that's labor".

The millinery openings will be in Lancaster next Saturday. Our milliners have spared no time or money, and will have on display the largest lines ever shown here. It will not be necessary for any one to leave town to be satisfied in the hat line, if you want cheap ones they are here, if you want expensive ones they are here and if you are looking for pretty ones they are no where else but here.

The friends of the Record will please hand us news items that are fresh. We prefer not to publish a birth after the child is weaned, a marriage after the honeymoon is over, or the death of a man after his widow has married again. We would also like to know the exact time and place of events you hand to us. We do not like to publish indefinite articles.

All persons who have claims against the estate of S. Archer will present them properly verified according to law to the undersigned J. G. Burnside, Committee of the said S. Archer, said S. Archer having been adjudged incompetent to manage and control his estate. Claims must be filed on or before April 15, 1913.

J. G. Burnside, Committee of S. Archer.

John W. Vogel's Big City Minstrels which comes to the Stanford Opera House, Saturday March 22nd will doubtless prove a strong drawing card. The company is a large one and well balanced, contains a host of clever up-to-date comedians and vocalists and an olio of specially selected vaudeville acts. An unusually big business is looked forward to by the management.

Hollow Horn Bear, the most famous of all Sioux chieftains, died last week in Washington of pneumonia.

For sixty-four years the big chief had defied death on the war path, the plains, the mountains and the forests, but the inclemency of the March weather in Washington together with watching an inaugural parade, was too much for the old warrior.

An all American troupeau is in course of preparation for the daughter of Edison. Pretty Miss Madeline Edison engagement was announced a few weeks ago and all Menlo Park, where Edison's laboratories and electrical works are established, is in the most excited tip-toe over the wedding, which is scheduled for a late spring event. It is said there will be marvels of gala electric display when the wedding bells chime for Wizard Edison's daughter.

Spring Millinery Opening March 22, 1913. Every one cordially invited. Mrs. Ada Kinnaird.

They Believe In Signs.

Local gardeners are anxiously searching the almanac for the moon's phases, seeking the proper time to plant potatoes. As far as the good lady's sweet pea bed is concerned, it will not be necessary to "plant them in the moon", they are sure to be planted the very first warm sunshine day, or else hubby will be given no rest.

Len's Anniversary.

While our efficient foreman, Lennie Miller is not an Irishman, yet St. Patrick's day is an anniversary with him. On last Monday, St. Patrick's day, Len rounded out eleven years faithful and efficient service in the Record office, and we hope to have him celebrate as many more in that capacity, as no more faithful or capable man could be secured for the position.

A Big Record.

In order not to crowd out our reading matter and at the same time meet the demands of our Easter advertisers, the Record is publishing twelve pages this week. The issue is full of the announcements of up-to-date merchants who believe that the newspaper is the best medium through which to do their advertising, and the various wares set forth in these ads are not to be excelled anywhere.

Lancaster People To See "Hamlet".

About twenty people have engaged passage on the "Titanic" on next Wednesday afternoon to go to Lexington to see Sothern & Marlowe in Hamlet. All those who expect to make this trip are notified to be at the Kengarian hotel at 1:30 p. m. next Wednesday afternoon, promptly, as the Titanic like time and tide, will positively wait for no one. Handsome and comfortable seats have been installed in the car and the trip can be made in great comfort.

Uncle Dave Ross Robbed.

Edgar Dunn, a colored boy who has been in the employ of Uncle Dave Ross, and who is better known about town as "Bible back", effected an entrance to Mrs. Ross' trunk on last Sunday night and abstracted a ten dollar bill therefrom. He made his escape taking with him Uncle Dave's smoke house keys, about which that gentleman is very much concerned. Officers have located the culprit and it is only a matter of time when he will be apprehended.

Women's Club To Have "Rat Day".

Upon the earnest solicitation of the Women's Club, Mayor Logan and the City Council have designated Saturday March 22 as "Rat day", and upon this day every rodent within the confines of the city will be offered some extra inducement to enter a trap or some dainty will be spread with poison for his benefit.

This is a very laudable undertaking, and as the days of the "Pied Piper" have passed and he cannot be found to lead the rodents to their death by means of sweet music, every merchant and citizen should lend their assistance in clearing the community of these dangerous and destructive pests.

The local newspaper stands in the attitude of a Father Confessor to the people of the community in which it is published. It chronicles the shortcomings of the servants of the people, the elective and appointive officers of the community, as well as giving them due credit for all praiseworthy acts. It points out the needs of the community from a business and commercial standpoint, boosts every enterprise, often single handed, advocates what is good as it sees it, and condemns what is bad in its eyes. It keeps the community posted as to the happenings of the locality, chronicles the coming and going of you and your neighbor, and in many ways "fills a long felt want".

Many there are who when some particular article particularly touches them on a sore spot, severely criticize the editor and characterize his utterances as malicious, when as a matter of fact it is but a case of "the shoe fitting". Not in one case out of a hundred does an editor allow malice to enter into his paper, is actuated by malice in the news of his columns; he simply endeavors to give the news, states plain unvarnished facts, and there are in this world many people who cannot stand to have the plain unvarnished truth told about them.

There are the same restrictions placed upon utterances by the law as there are upon a person, and should the editor publish that which would injure some person, and that publication be untrue, the injured party may seek redress at the hands of the law. For this reason, if for no other, a newspaper must be guarded in its utterances, must be careful to get at the true facts before publishing an article. If they become lax in this respect and do not exercise proper care as to the authenticity of the articles which appear in their columns, it will not be a great length of time before they will find themselves the defendant in a suit for damages.

In the course of his nosing around after news the newspaper man possesses himself of many items which would prove very interesting reading matter in some quarters, which he never publishes, he uncovers many skeletons that were thought to be safely hidden, which were he to flaunt before the public eye, might prove interesting reading to some, while to others it would bring heart aches and sorrow. For the suppression of such matter he is given no credit, but for every article of the "shoe fitting" class he is given no end of blame. We have known cases where some disgruntled person, right here in this community, ordered their paper stopped, just because some particular paragraph was not just to their liking, not only did they cut off their subscription but they made the editor feel awful bad, told him "there was nothing in his old paper anyway", but we invariably find him eagerly perusing his neighbors copy of the very next issue.

Such are the ups and downs of the life of a newspaper man, and he pursues the even tenor of his way, endeavoring to publish the news without fear or favor, giving to the living, friend and foe alike, their just dues, and when they die, saying more nice things about them in an obituary than they ever had said about them.

President Wilson has expressed himself as unqualifiedly in favor of the redemption of party pledges, of standing uncompromisingly by the Democratic platform, and of lending every assistance in his power to these ends. These declarations upon the part of our newly installed President have the right ring, and if he lives up to them, which we are firmly of the opinion he will do, he will retire from office with the confidence of the entire people and the satisfaction of knowing that he has been faithful to his trust and the confidence reposed in him by his party.

The strict adherence to the platform of democracy, the carrying out to the letter of the party pledges, is of far more importance than the distribution of patronage, the parceling out of offices, and any democrat who feels that he cannot abide by the platform and assist in the carrying out of these party pledges should forthwith resign any office he holds at the hands of the party, and in the event of his failure to do this, the people, his constituency, should seek the very first favorable opportunity to remove him, and any further political aspirations which he might have, should have an eternal quietus placed upon them. A party platform, the democratic platform upon which Woodrow Wilson made the race for the presidency, is a contract with the people, and whoever elects to make the race upon that platform and accepts office at the hands of the people upon that platform, forthwith becomes a party to that contract, and any deviation from the tenets of that platform, or any failure to lend every assistance to the carrying out of party pledges should be looked upon in the same light and treated in the same manner as the repudiation of a contract, and should be compelled to accept the consequence as such.

A person elected to office upon the democratic platform who finds that he is not in full accord with that platform and is not in favor of, or cannot lend every assistance in his power to upholding the platform and carrying out the party pledges, and who yet continues to hold office, is a usurper and should have the unmitigated scorn of his constituency and every honorable means should be adopted to encompass his immediate removal.

President Wilson in his frank, honest and laudable announcement will have the hearty support of the united democracy of the country, not only that but the people of the entire country will admire him for his efforts, for the American people admire an honest man, respective of his political convictions, and what more proof could we have of the honesty of a man than his honest effort to meet his obligations, and that is exactly what the determination of President Wilson amounts to when he expresses his determination to live up to the platform upon which he was elected and to carry out the party pledges made previous to his election.
He should and will have the assistance and approval of every democrat and every good citizen in this country in his very laudable efforts.

Don't forget the Circle Girls exchange and Candy sale, Saturday 22nd.

The President Simply Wants Simplicity.

Washington doesn't like it because the inaugural ball was abandoned.
Next, many persons seem to have been startled out of their wits because the President would not allow every one of a great milling swarm of office-seekers to see him privately, and take up his time with petitions and indorsements for thousands of posts in the Government service.

Lo and behold! The President attends a Washington theater, and there is no military escort and no patriotic music from the orchestra. It developed the orchestra had been notified the President didn't want the "Star Spangled Banner" played as he entered. Some people, therefore, were furious because they didn't know the President was in the theater until they saw him sitting just like a man in one of the boxes enjoying Billie Burke's fluttering, flittings on the stage.

"What's the use," he probably asked himself, "of thrusting forward one's self unnecessarily? People may get to thinking after awhile that I go to the playhouses just to make the audience stand up and the orchestra play the "Star Spangled Banner." Now why do I go to the theater at all? What is the primary purpose of my visit there?
Is it to make myself conspicuous? No.
Is it to see everybody get up? Positively not. Here is why I go to the show;
I want to see the show."

The President appreciates that he is President, and that, being President, patriotic American citizens are more than happy to pay him homage. He simply wants simplicity, that all. On the occasion mentioned he paid $40 for two boxes. Presidents for generations have been the guests of Washington theaters whenever they wanted to be-that is, they have taken advantage of the gift of seats. Mr. Wilson says he will have no "comps," he will pay his way.

Can You Doubt It?

Those who are firm believers in the infallibility of the ground hog as a weather prophet are pointing with pride to last Sunday, which was the last day of the sagacious little animal's predicted "six weeks of bad weather", and that day surely did strengthen the faith of the most skeptical in this unmistakable weather prognosticator.

Lenten Season Closes Sunday.

This week is "Holy Week" and rounds out the lenten season. Today, Friday, is "Good Friday" and will be observed by the Episcopal and Catholic churches with services appropriate to the occasion commemorative of the crucifixion of our Saviour. Easter Sunday will be observed everywhere, in all the churches, Sunday schools and like organizations with services befitting the occasion.

Adopt Strenuous Measures.

Many Lancaster residents have complained of late of petty thefts about their premises, chicken coops raided, smoke houses entered, and the like, and Chief Herron has been staying up nights in an effort to detect the marauders.
Lancaster has for many years been comparatively free from complaints of this nature, and to save the Chief trouble, as well as to effectually abate the growing nuisance, we suggest that Louis Landram's time honored remedy be adopted, get out the family shot gun, load it with number five shot and discharge it in the direction of the first unseemly noise you hear about your premises after bedtime.

Laudable Efforts.

We are very sorry that the Women's Club cannot accomplish everything they undertake, for we have yet to see them undertake anything that would not be for the good of the community.

With their eyes ever upon the alert for the public welfare, they have secured the promise of Dr. Locke, Sanitary Inspector for the Eleventh district of Kentucky, and an eminent authority upon the best modern methods of sanitation, to lecture here in the near future. The lecture will be entirely free and everyone is cordially invited and should attend. You may hear something at this lecture that will enable you to avoid an attack of some virulent disease, either to yourself or to some member of your family.

A Welcome Visitor.

Mrs. M. Belle Burnside has been a welcome guest in Lancaster the last week, shaking hands with her friends, and that means everybody. Mrs. Burnside since leaving Lancaster several years ago has made her home with her daughter in Monticello Ky, and has been for a part of the time in wretched health. However her old time vigor seems to have returned and she greets her friends with the same kindly warmth and friendliness as she did years ago when she was a valued member of the faculty of the local school.

Her visit though a welcome one, is tinged with one regret, the fact that she was called to her old home by the severe illness of her aged father Mr.
Thomas M. Johnston, who is at the home of his son in Jessamine county and whose span of life can last but a short while.

That Easter Bonnet.

A minister who had been much annoyed by the way members of his congregation had of looking around to take stock of late comers, thought he would break them of this bad habit by saying "Brethren, I regret to see that your attention is called away from your religious duties by your desire to see who comes in behind you. I propose henceforth to save you the trouble by naming each person who may enter.
He then began: "Dearly beloved," but paused to announce "Mr. Smith with his wife and daughter". Presently he again paused; "Mr. Brown and two boys". The service continued in the most orderly manner, and the parson was about to congratulate himself upon holding the attention of the congregation when he announced; "Miss Arnold in a new Easter hat" In a moment he felt his mistake, but it was too late every feminine head had turned around.

Trustees Of Schools Invited To Meet With Educators At Louisville.

Frankfort, Ky., March 20th. Instead of treating the school trustees as part of the problem to be solved, the Kentucky Educational Association hereafter purposes treating the trustee as a factor in the solution of the remainder of the problem, and a department of trustees, like the departments of superintendents and grade teachers, is to be organized at the meeting at Louisville April 30 as a constituent of the association.

A plan of active co-operation between teachers and trustees is being worked out by way of preparation and a determined and systematic effort is being put on foot to attract the attendance at the meeting of trustees from every educational division, city and hamlet in the State. One of the interesting features will be a trustees' re-round table, where they can thresh out questions common to them all, with which each board has been wrestling single handed, unaided by the experience of the others.

While the organizers are carrying on a state-wide campaign to start this department with a big attendance, Secretary Thomas W. Vinson announced today that John B. McFerran, of Louisville, has offered a prize of $50 in gold to the county sending proportionately the largest delegation of trustees to the meeting, the number of trustees in the county and the distance traveled being considered in awarding the prize. The money is to be used in any way the county board winning it sees fit.

Mrs. Burton No Better.

We are sorry to state that the condition of Mrs. Mary Burton, the aged mother of W. B. Burton of this place, shows no improvement, and that she remains critically ill at her home near Buckeye. Mr. Burton is at her bedside.

Mr. Henry Arnold Seriously Sick.

Mr. Henry Arnold who until recently conducted a store at Hyattsville, was stricken Monday with some ailment of the brain and is now seriously ill at his home near the Poor House. Mr. Arnold is a thrifty young farmer and popular gentleman, a son of Mr. H. C.
Arnold. He married Miss Ida Ray, a daughter of ex-Representative William Ray.

Mr. John W. Brown Ill.

The condition of Mr. John W. Brown is occasioning much uneasiness to his friends and relatives. He is at the home of his brother Mr. R. S. Brown in this city and while not confined to his bed, is yet a very sick man. Mr.
Brown has for many years conducted a mercantile business at Buckeye and is one of the most substantial citizens of the county.

Bids For Road Work Wanted.

Mr. Cleveland Bourne, Road Supervisor for Garrard county advertises in this week's Record for bids for repairing the roads of the county for the current year. The bids are to be opened on April 1st and all parties who are interested in securing a part of the county work on roads must have their bids prepared and in the hands of the Fiscal court on or before that date.

Successful Business Man.

Mr. J. R. Haselden, of Lancaster, a prominent citizen and merchant of our neighboring city; was here yesterday to have Conn's Garage make some repairs on his big automobile. Mr. Haselden is a young man who deserves great credit for his remarkable success in the business world. He began work in his uncle's tin shop when a mere boy, and by careful attention to business and an upright life is today one of the most substantial citizens of Garrard county—Danville Messenger.

Circuit Court.

This week will round out the third and last week of the March term of circuit court, which has been a very busy one. Judge Hardin has pretty well cleaned up the criminal dockets and has disposed of a goodly amount of civil business.

The grand jury made its final report on Wednesday and was discharged, having found about twenty indictments, the bulk of them for minor offenses.
A true bill was found against Mr. C.
P. Kennedy for failing to erect and maintain a fish ladder. There was also a true bill found against a merchant of the county for furnishing cigarette material to a minor. The Royston murder case was continued until the next term of court because of the serious illness of Mr. A. B. Estridge, who is an important witness for the commonwealth.

The court will on Saturday hear some of the pleadings in the big Robinson insurance case, which is pending in the Lincoln circuit court, the matter being taken up here for the purpose of facilitating matters as much as possible.

Custodian Appointed For Government Site, Building Of Custom House Yet A Long Way Off.

Postmaster W. T. West has been appointed Custodian of the local site for the Lancaster Federal Building. His instructions pertaining to his stewardship are in detail and are too long for publication. He will have the authority to accept proposals for "ground rent" for the property, which he will forward to Washington for the inspection of the department, and in the event the proposals are not accepted, it is probable that after due notice, the government will require the buildings on the lot to be removed and the lot left entirely clear.

The most interesting part of these instructions, to the casual reader, is the information contained therein that because of the vast amount of work, the number of buildings which the government now has under construction, it will be at least two years and probably longer, before the Lancaster site will be demanded for government use. This can mean but one thing, that work will not begin on the Lancaster building for at least two years and probably a longer time than that will elapse before ground is broken for our building.

However, while we are disappointed at the long wait, and had hoped, though with no basis for that hope, that it would begin sooner, yet we are thankful that we have the site bought and paid for, and that the appropriation has been made for the erection of the building. Some of us may, and doubtless will have passed to our reward before the edifice is built, but future generations at least will have the benefit of it, and they will probably remember gratefully the efforts of their forefathers which resulted in the provision for their comfort.

In other cities where John W. Vogel's Big City Minstrels have appeared, theatre parties have been a social feature of the event. It is a jolly way of enjoying a perfect evening, and witnessing what is said to be the best dressed and most elaborately staged minstrel performance in America. The above organization will appear at the Stanford Opera House on Saturday Night March 22nd. Why not drive over and see the biggest Minstrel ever in this section of the state. It.

The Womans Club

(Edited By The Womans Club)

The student who has free access to dictionaries, and books of reference acquire the valuable habit of consulting them in all times of uncertainty.

It readily becomes the custom to look up doubtful words, and find their meaning. To search for quotations so familiar and yet so hard to recall. To find the useful information so needed there is not a day in the life of a student that a reference book is not a necessity.

Should there be no books convenient of access a careless way of studying is acquired. The unknown words are passed over, references not understood are left unknown.

Sometimes the text is quite bare and the student is expected to supplement with outside information when this is not available there is much of vital importance lost. In so many homes suitable books are not thought necessary. Our teachers complain that their work is very much restricted on this account.

The Womans Club is working hard to secure a library which will be a valuable addition to our school. In a short time all arrangements will be made and a modern well equipped library will bless and enrich our town.

Much has been said and written in the last few years about the dangerous fly, and the slogan "swat the fly" is heard on all sides. Not so much has been said about the rat. Perhaps not so deadly as the fly, it is known to carry the flea which causes the bubonic plague. Being a nocturnal animal the habits of the rat are not well known.

But that it is a wonderful destroyer of property has been proven though it would surprise many to read statistics on the subject, and see how much they actually waste and destroy. Millions of dollars worth of property are destroyed each year by this vast army of rodents.

They are eunuchs in their way and love the very choicest of grains.

The juicy spring chicken is highly relished by them and so shrewd and cunning are they that few escape after they find their coops.

In view of these facts the Womans Club has asked permission of the Council to set apart one day on which war shall be waged against them.

It is thus ordered by the Mayor and Council that Saturday March 22 shall be proclaimed rat-day. On that day or the night before all citizens, owners of property, or renters, grocers, druggists and merchants must place poison in some form about their homes and places of business, traps must be set and all means devised by which our town may be rid of these dangerous and undesirable citizens.

Through an invitation from the Womans Club Dr. J. S. Locke Sanitary Inspector of the eleventh district, Harboursville, Ky., will publicly address the people one day in the near future. Dr. Locke is employed by the Rockefeller foundation fund to lecture upon the promotion of health and hygiene. He is thoroughly equipped with moving pictures and views relating to his subject and all are urged to come. This lecture is entirely free no collection will be taken.

There is one dollar due from each and every member of the Womans Club who has not as yet given this sum toward furnishing the new club room in the college. The committee can make no further plan until all of this fund is collected. See the treasurer Mrs. Price at once.

The department of music will hold its regular session in the parlor of the Kengarian Hotel on Friday afternoon March 21 at 2:30 o'clock, subject Modern Operas.

The Value Of A Library To Students.

It may be considered a work of trust philanthropy that the Board of Trustees has granted to the Womans Club the use of a beautiful room in the handsome new school building and that in that room is to be housed the library now under development. This work, like mercy is "twice blessed, blessing him that gives and him that takes", for not only are we mindful of the pleasure and profit to the people of the town and community who have access to the library, but how can we estimate the value to the school itself and by the school is meant the personnel of the student body and the individual interest of each child.

It is doubtful if the library in any home supplies the various and changing demands of the investigative minds of children. From very early years the tales of fiction and history hold the rapt interest of a child; and with mental development and the broadening of the horizon comes a desire for a knowledge of science and an understanding of the deep, essential things that past years have recorded on the written page for the enrichment of minds.

It is the book of reference that forms a very important part of a library, and the splendid books of history and encyclopedia that have been the unused property of the school for many years have been placed in the care of the Womans Library and will be at the service of the students. The new cases will hold not only these, but several hundred books of fiction, put there after consideration of the merit of each volume, thus saving a child from the harm of undirected reading. The books are being obtained by gift, by contribution, and by purchase, and when it has become a fully established library in the new room, it will merit the pride of those who have had a part in it, and promise an efficient service to those who will share its benefit.

The Library Committee made the effort to secure a library building from Mr. Carnegie. An application blank was sent us later a letter to the effect that only through the City Council could this gift be made. The Council is interested but not in a position to pledge the necessary amount for annual expenses of said building. We can but hope the day is not far distant when the request made of the Council can be granted.

The room that will be occupied by the library now under process of development will be handsomely furnished and the shelves of the book-cases will be filled with books carefully selected to suit the tastes of our children, young ladies and gentlemen and we will add old ladies and gentlemen if any should be in Lancaster. Friends, we want your interest, your co-operation this will assure us your help. We will submit later plans that we think will be helpful in securing sufficient money for books that we may have a library to pay credit to every effort.

Easter is a very ancient festival to commemorate the resurrection of Christ. It originated in the circumstance that Christ was typified in the paschal lamb, which was ordained by Moses to be slain at the Feast of the Passover. During the Second century of the Christian era there were many disputes respecting the day on which the feast should be kept. The dispute was finally settled at the Council of Nice, in 325, which ordained that it should be kept always and everywhere on the same day, and the Sunday next after the full moon that came on or first after the vernal equinox, which falls on March 21st. Thus the council ordained so that it could never be coincident with the Passover of the Jews, but celebrated as the day of Christ's resurrection. The joy of Easter comes from the fact that all nature seems to live again. Winter is the death of the year, and in the dead leaves you see emblems of death, but Spring with leaves and flowers bursting forth is the joy of its resurrection. The seed now springing up, unfolding and blossoming into beauty and fragrance have lived on earth before, just as our raised body will be, in some way the outcome of a body that lived before. The full joy of Easter, typifying the resurrection, comes from a faith in God and in his son, Jesus Christ, when he shall come and bring forth the dead bodies and change them into immortal bodies. This thought is the silver lining to the dark clouds of death and the grave.

"Some day the silver cord will break,
And I no more as now shall sing;
But, O, the joy when I shall wake Within the palace of the King.
Some day my earthly house will fall,
I cannot tell how soon 'twill be,
But this I know-my all in all
Has now a place in heaven for me".

Showing how you can be stylishly dressed at moderate cost.

Our exhibit of spring styles is important to the woman who wants to know what to wear, but it is of even greater importance to the women who want to know what to pay.

We have been as careful in our values as in our styles. We know that neither can be beaten, and we doubt if you can see their equal anywhere else.

This is especially true of the glorious styles and colors shown in Wooltex coats, suits and skirts, and in the exquisite dresses in serge, linen, cotton-weaves and silk.

We recommend this showing to the immediate attention of every woman interested in good style at moderate cost.

The woman who buys a Wooltex coat or suit gets a combination of style and value impossible to duplicate; nothing better can be made—tailors don't know how to improve Wooltex workmanship. Fabrics are all pure wool, styles distinctive and pleasing, wear guaranteed for at least two seasons, and, with all this Wooltex prices are no more than those asked for the ordinary run of tailor-made garments.

'Pittsburgh Perfect' Fence

Save Money on your Fencing by Putting up the Style Made to Meet your Requirements

It's downright foolishness to buy light chicken wire to put around your bull pasture—and you know it. But some people do it because they don't think beyond the price-ticket on the roll of fence—at least not until they've had to patch the chicken wire a dozen times or so where that bull went through.

Then they put up a brand new stock fence. There's no economy in that kind of fence-buying. The right fence in the first place costs less. Our free catalogue tells how to buy fencing economically, effectively, wisely. Get it today and save money.

Made in Different Styles for FIELD, FARM, RANCH, LAWN, CHICKEN, POULTRY and RABBIT YARD and GARDEN. Every Rod Guaranteed. Ask your dealer for 'Pittsburgh Perfect' and insist on his furnishing it. Do not allow him to persuade you that some other fence is just as good. If he doesn't sell it, write us direct.

A Little Political History Of Garrard County.

For many years, all hands off, Garrard has been republican by a handsome majority. This has been often overcome by Democrats, by the use of superior electioneering tactics and campaign methods. The burden of this majority was increased and accentuated by the fact that the Collectors office was located at Lancaster for many years, under Republican rule. An army of officers was on duty, in the home office and in the field, ever ready to contribute funds and work for the Republican campaign. Democrats who won, under these conditions, were forced to work and use funds almost without limit. They were bound as by an incubus, an irresistible influence.

Lancaster is to have a Government building, in which the office could be located, and justice and equity would suggest the propriety of locating the office there. Compensation demands it. It would be consistent with the custom of pensioning soldiers for service in time of war. Justice demands a quid pro quo, a tit for tat.

No man in the country fought this influence harder than Col. T. H. Robinson, who is an applicant for the Collectors office. He was always in the hottest line of battle, and verily spent a fine blue-grass farm in waging war against this Republican influence. These statements are founded on facts that are as incontrovertible as those upon which any statements are based. Giving him the office would be just and consistent with the claims that are being urged in behalf of a candidate for U. S. Senator because he was deprived of his rights in the past. Let us reason together and do that which we know is right and consistent with facts and truths as immutable as those upon which any proposition rests. Democrat.

'Problematical'.

Under the above caption the Danville Advocate, while "wishing our neighbors all the progress and advancement possible," bemoans the possibility of Harrodsburg and Lancaster erecting loose leaf tobacco markets, because "Danville already has an established market and a large amount of capital invested in the enterprise" and "it is hoped our neighbors will not attempt to divide the business of this area." This is exactly the reason of the opposition which has developed to the erection of a warehouse in Lancaster, because it will injure the business of our neighboring towns.

Charity to our minds, begins at home, and for to these many years we have been injuring our own business by having no local market for our product and being compelled to haul them to neighboring towns, with the resultant inconvenience attending the operation, to say nothing of the additional expense, and thereby allowing the neighboring counties to reap the benefit of our industry. Personally we have no choice as to market, saving always the home market, and we have no choice as to whether our farmers market their crops at either Danville, Richmond, Lexington or elsewhere, but we do think that they are standing in their own light when they allow themselves to be compelled to market their crop anywhere save at home. The very idea of Garrard county with her six million pounds of the acknowledged best burley tobacco raised in central Kentucky being compelled to seek a market in an adjoining town, is preposterous. But after all the fault lies with the grower, the question is squarely up to them; the people of Lancaster stand ready and willing to do their part, and with a very reasonable amount of financial co-operation from the farmer, a warehouse will be quickly built.

Kentucky Banks Buying Bonds.

Kentucky Banks are becoming active bidders for all the bonds that are being offered in the state that look to be a good investment. The bonds for the erection of the City Hall in Danville amounting to $28,000, were purchased by a Maysville bank for $28,015, and thirty bonds of $1,000, each issued for the erection of the Nicholasville school building were purchased by the National Bank of Cincinnati for $30,377.

The First Bachelor.

When Adam "batched" in Paradise before the cook had come, He found his housework irksome and it was neglected some. Ad wasn't lazy, either—he was up at early dawn—But he wouldn't air the bedding and he wouldn't sweep the lawn. And the seraph heard him muttering, "I won't sweep any clo'es. Until I find a good fig leaf on which the button grows." Beneath the couch Edenic was collected such a store. Of miscellaneous rubbish as was never seen before; While in the primal kitchen was a mess which I declare Was quite enough itself to make a Christian woman swear. Then the Lord looked in upon him and He gave an awful groan, "It is not good, I see," He said, "that man should be alone." And all terrestrial troubles from that very date began, For Adam soon thereafter had become a "family man." He had planted hogs in Eden, sown his "garden sass" and thrived, But he left the dishes standing till the day that Eve arrived. —(Walter Hurt.

New Place For Miss Lloyd.

Sothern And Marlowe At Lexington.

E. H. Sothern and Julia Marlowe, the two most important dramatic stars of the English speaking world, are to appear at the Lexington Opera House for three nights, beginning Monday, March 24. This will be the most important dramatic company that has visited Lexington in many years. Mr. Sothern and Miss Marlowe will present three plays from their Shakespearean repertoire. On Monday night, March 24, they will appear in "Romeo and Juliet" on Tuesday night, the 25, "As You Like It" on Wednesday night, the 26, "Hamlet." There will be no Wednesday matinee. Many theatre goers of this city will doubtless desire to take advantage of this very unusual opportunity of witnessing three of the most popular plays of Shakespeare, presented as they will be by two such famous stars. It will be a matter of interest to theatre goers that the prices to be charged for this engagement will be the same as is usually asked by attractions of the first class.

It is usual for Sothern and Marlowe to ask $2.50 to $4 for orchestra seats in theatres of small capacity, but the Lexington Opera House has such a large seating capacity that they are able to play at the following scale of prices: Orchestra floor, $2; balcony, $2, $1.50 and $1; gallery, 50 cents. The orchestra box seats will be $2.50 each, and the balcony box seats $2 each. The management has arranged to fill all mail orders accompanied by remittance, in the sequence of their receipt. This great organization when traveling from city to city uses a special train of eleven cars; seven cars of scenery, three Pullman cars for the company, and Mr. Sothern and Miss Marlowe's private car. Each play is provided with a complete scenic equipment. Those desiring seats should order at once for this engagement, addressing their letters care of Charles Scott, Manager of the Lexington Opera House, Lexington, Kentucky.

THE RESURRECTION AND THE LIFE.

The cornerstone of the Christian church is laid in the empty grave of Jesus Christ. The resurrection proves the death; the death proves the life, the life the birth of Jesus Christ. Doubt the resurrection and it is impossible to account for the existence of Christianity. The resurrection proves our own resurrection. Empty as was the tomb of Jesus on the first Easter morn, so empty shall be all the graves of his people on the last great Easter morn. He is therefore in the largest and fullest sense the resurrection and the life.—Rev. Dr. R. S. MacArthur, Pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church, New York.

The Easter Hat as a Life Preserver

While service was being held at one of the churches an organ pipe fell on the head of a worshiper. But a bonnet which she was wearing probably saved her life.—News Item.

Seated one day near the organ. With her head devoutly bowed, An organ pipe fell on her head. With a noise both sharp and loud.

It woke up the congregation. And they feared she had taken harm. But the pipe had struck on her bonnet. Which protected her like a charm.

It prevented all pain and headache. For it was both big and soft. And the pipe had no power to harm her 'Till it fell from the organ loft.

Men have sought the reason vainly Why our sex wear turbans large. With velvet and fur overloaded. And they've grumbled at the charge.

It may be that death's bright angel Has spared one life just to show That the saints approve in heaven Of the hats on earth below.

GERTRUDE M'KENZIE.

EASTER.

At Easter we should feel our very hearts budding and blossoming with new loves, new hopes and new determinations to realize the joyfulness of the Christian spring. What is it that makes Easter morning glorious with a glory all its own? It is the resurrection of our Lord Jesus Christ. It is an abandoned grave. It is the angel ministry which says to all human sorrow the winter is over and gone; the time of the slugging of the birds is come. Let us enter into sympathy with this gospel of redemption and preach the gracious doctrines of Christ with an accent of hope rising into an accent of triumph.—Rev. Dr. Joseph Parker.

Senator Bradley's Funny Stories.

Senator Bradley ranks high in Washington among those who can tell a good anecdote, and tell it well, and in the telling of a string of funny stories for the edification of a circle of friends, his thoughts invariably revert to some occurrence at his old home in Lancaster.

Arthur E. Krock in his Washington letter to the Sunday Courier Journal, quotes Sen. Bradley's story about the late T. W. Olds' undertakers sign, and which is as follows:

"Did you ever hear of the sign T. W. Olds, of Lancaster, set up when he went into the undertaking business?" he asked. "It is said to deserve a place in Kentucky history along with Judge Guffey's law sign. Olds had a big sign painted reading as follows:

"T. W. Olds announces he has bought a fine new hearse and funeral trappings and will take great pleasure in burying his friends."

True, Too True.

A great many of us fall into the very unjust habit of judging our neighbors too hastily and oftentimes too harshly, and this habit grows upon us until we unconsciously give utterance to our premature thoughts, often to the detriment of some deserving person. The following thought is voiced among the "Random Notes" in a recent issue of the Danville Advocate, and is alas, too true:

"One of the most glaring and widely-prevalent individual faults of the day is that of constant and keen analysis of every action and apparent thought of our neighbor. Unconsciously, a person cultivates this habit, and frequently before he is aware of its existence he is hampering himself with ill-founded prejudices against his fellows, forming false views of life, and doing some of his best friends, as well as his worst enemies, palpable injustice. If one wishes to preserve an evenly balanced mind and keep in impartial touch with his associates, he must guard this unfortunate tendency and discourage its first symptoms."

Friedman And His Tuberculosis Cure.

Dr. Frederic Franz Friedman, the eminent German Scientist and physician, and the reputed discoverer of a cure for tuberculosis, introduced his serum into a number of patients at Bellevue hospital New York last week, after which he journeyed to Canada where he lectured before a celebrated medical society and also gave many treatments of his remedy, after which he again returned to this country, and on last Monday administered the serum to another batch of patients at Bellevue. All the patients who have been treated so far are under the strictest surveillance of representatives of the U. S. Health Department, and every development of their condition is being noted with interest. It is of course too early yet to determine from these patients whether or not the alleged cure is a success, but it will only be a short time when this may be seen and if it is successful, Dr. Friedman will be proclaimed one of the greatest benefactors to suffering mankind ever known.

The medical fraternity, which at first assumed somewhat of a belligerent attitude toward the German, have changed to some extent, and he is being offered every opportunity to give his serum a thorough and unbiased trial in this country. If his efforts prove successful, the serum will probably be distributed broadcast throughout this country, of course being placed in the hands of competent physicians, who will be taught the proper methods for using it, but it is thought that it will be placed within the reach of every sufferer from the White Plague in this country.

"Bottled In Bond" Not Always "Bottled In Bond".

Ever since Uncle Sam began putting his stamp over the neck of bottles containing "bottled in bond" whiskey, thereby guaranteeing its age and purity as well as proof, the commissar has sought bottled in bond whiskey as the best obtainable. However, from recent observations we have nearly reached the conclusion that the original contents of the bottled in bond receptacle does not always reach the consumer. We were told recently that the bottom of these bottles were often cut out and the contents removed and there was substituted in its stead an inferior grade of whiskey, probably a blend, compound or what not, some nauseous decoction which was calculated to kill much quicker than the original contents of the bottle. We concluded to investigate, and four out of six bottles which we gathered at random had the appearance of having been tampered with. There was a well defined circle having the appearance of having been cut from the bottom of the bottle and replaced by means of some kind of cement, the circle was about one and one half inch in diameter and necessitated some very neat work to remove and replace it, if this had been done. We submitted the bottles to several gentlemen about town, who readily agreed that the bottles had the appearance of having been tampered with, and we also preserved the bottles, empty however, for the inspection of anyone who would like to see them. The bottles in question had originally contained whiskey of two of the leading and most popular brands in the state.

We have heard considerable complaint of late of the inferior quality of the average bottled-in-bond whiskey, at which we were very much surprised, knowing that this was the liquor most sought after by those who were particularly as to the "brand of pizen" which they drank, and the falling off in the quality may perhaps be accounted for by the fact that the original contents had been removed and something else substituted. We are not expert enough to say positively that this had been done, but it looks very much to us as if it had been done. If some one is thus tampering with the goods guaranteed by Uncle Sam, it takes place after the liquor leaves the bottling house of the distillery, where it is bottled under the direct supervision of a U. S. gauger or storekeeper. There are many opportunities for tampering with it after it leaves the distillery as it goes through, in many instances, many hands before reaching the consumer.

If this is being done, it is a foregone conclusion that some of the sleuths of the internal Revenue department already have an inkling of it, and before they know it, those who have been engaged in this nefarious practice will be in the toils of the U. S. court.

The best blood lines of the Duroc hogs known will be in good individuals Apr. 3rd. J. F. Middleton, Shelbyville, Ky.

Of Interest To Us NOT U. S.

Mrs. Ben Hughes has kindly handed us a copy of the CENTRAL KENTUCKY NEWS, from which we copy this column.

Lancaster: Thursday, Aug. 28, 1873.

Our schools will not open next week as advertised, on account of cholera.

Last Monday was County Court day but there were no officers present, no people in town, and, of course, there was no court.

A few brave ladies grace our lonely streets occasionally and make a cheerful appearance even amid all our gloom. God bless them.

Capt. Fletcher, in command of the troops at this place, has the thanks of our citizens for his instrumentality in securing additional medical aid.

We have had no preaching or religious services at any of our churches during the epidemic, and the preachers all deserted us, except Washington Lusk, of color.

Mr. Coll Cinsure was the only carpenter to remain in Lancaster during the severest raging of the cholera. He made nearly all the coffins for the dead, but was taken sick Sunday evening, and left town Monday.

Great indignation is felt here against our local physicians who ran away in the very hour of need. Some talk of inviting them to locate elsewhere, and others are more violent in condemnation of the frightened M. Da.

Dr. I. S. Warren, of Louisville, arrived here last Thursday, under appointment as physician and surgeon to the U. S. Garrison at this place, and has been quite energetic in waiting upon the sick, not only of the soldiers, but citizens also.

The citizens of Lancaster will ever gratefully remember the valuable services of the local physicians of the town, who have stood by them in the hour of peril and time of need.—Mrs. O. P. Hill, W. H. Pettus and H. Jackson. They have nursed and attended the medical wants of the numerous sick night and day, since the cholera epidemic has been raging.

The inevitable result of cholera in our town, by the suspension of all business and work, will be great destitution among the people who depend on their daily labor for their bread. We feel thankful for the privilege of thus publicly acknowledging the receipt of a barrel of flour and 200 pounds of meal Mr. C. Campbell, of Silver Creek Mills, for distribution among the needy.

A SAD SCENE.—Last Sunday, a soldier named Rushbrook and his wife, having been attacked with cholera, died suddenly, and were buried with military honors in the cemetery. Col. Fletcher performed the funeral ceremonies, and the man and wife were buried side by side at the same time. They had been married but a short time. Mrs. Rushbrook was a native of Louisville.

The business of Lancaster presents a sorry aspect. All the stores are closed except S. Marrs' grocery and provision store, and W. Burnside & Bro.'s drug store. The three hotels are open for the benefit of those who have sent their families off.

The postoffice has been kept open during mail hours.

Work on all new buildings has stopped; R. A. Burnside & Co's mill suspended operations early last week.—The miller Mr. Brown, died of cholera last Saturday.

The new Wheat Fan Manufactory of Messrs W. V. R. & Co Tooker has suspended operations.

If the town of Lancaster had been properly cleansed several months since at the time it was urged upon our timid trustees this terrible scourge through which we are passing might have been avoided. By expense of a few hundred dollars in having the town thoroughly cleaned, much trouble and sickness to say nothing of money would have been saved. The cost of this epidemic, and the losses to our business men, farmers and laborers, can scarcely be estimated. The town treasury, we doubt not, will be probably $3,000 worse off. The loss to our business men we estimate, will not be less than $20,000 and may possibly double or triple that amount. And what is worse we still have the filth, and nothing, we suppose, can stop disease except disinfectants, until that filth is removed. The disinfecting, if kept up as it should will be a heavy expense. If the disinfecting is not kept up, or the filth not removed, how can we expect to rid ourselves of disease? We feel that it is urgent that the town should be cleaned as early as possible, and, if necessary, a disinfectant might be used while the cleaning is going on.

When Easter Comes,
Thirty days hath September.

Every person can remember, But to know when Easter's come Puzzles even scholars some.

When March the twenty-first is past. Just watch the silvery moon, And when you see it full and round Know Easter'll be here soon.

After the moon has reached its full, Then Easter will be here, The Sunday after

In each and every year.

And if it hap on Sunday,

The moon should reach its height, The Sunday following this event, Will be the Easter bright.

Breathes there the maid with soul so true?

Who never to herself hath said, "I'll buy before I go to bed, A bonnet with a streamer?" If such there be, go mark her well, She never will be voted "Swell" And nothing can redeem her.

IMMORTALITY.

I cannot see them lead— Those loved ones in the sky; To leave the paths that mortals tread. For sapphire pavements overhead. Sure, this is not to die!

To go with pleasant dreams, To rest beneath death's wave, And wake where flow immortal streams Where everything in sunlight gleams, Is not to find a grave!

Such is the vision of immortality as revealed in the light Jesus brought forth from the grave. He is the Light of the world. "He that followeth after him shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of light."

Must Fed Hogs Commanding Low Prices.

Cincinnati live stock commission men are sending out letters to their shippers warning them against the purchase of "must fed hogs", and so emphatic are they in this warning that they say they will be compelled to deduct $2 per hundred pounds from the selling price of hogs thus fattened. The cause for this warning is that dealers have been buying hogs from the must feeding districts, shipping them into the corn feeding districts and after feeding them for awhile on corn, shipping them to the market as corn fed hogs. This is a mistake, a hog after being fed must will not pass as a corn fed hog simply from being fed corn for a short time, they must first be run on either clover or alfalfa and afterward taken up and fed corn before they will class up with the strictly corn fed product. Shippers are urged to be very wary as to what they buy, and unless they are fully satisfied that hogs are not must fed, not to purchase them. Unless great caution is exercised in this matter, shippers will be put to no end of trouble to get their hogs into shape to go to market as corn fed, or else will be compelled to suffer considerable loss in the way of dockage.

King George Of Greece Assassinated. Shot Down In Streets Of Saloniki By Man Who Is Supposed To Be Mentally Unbalanced.

King George of Greece was shot down while walking in the streets of Saloniki Tuesday afternoon by a man who gave his name as Aleko Schinas, who from his talk and actions appeared to be insane. The assassin was overpowered but expressed no sorrow for his crime. The king died within the hour. He will be succeeded by his son Crown Prince Constantine. King George was born Dec. 24, 1845 and became King in March 1863 and was a well beloved monarch.

Good Order Prevails In Garrard County Reports The Grand Jury.

After a busy session of the Grand Jury lasting for six days the foreman, Mr. T. C. Rankin filed a written report of its work in Court addressed to Judge Charles A. Hardin. The jury made thorough investigation and without partiality of all violations of the penal law and investigated the conduct of all fiscal affairs of the County. Only a few indictments were returned on account of the prevailing good order in the County. The Grand Jury found and reported that in the colored settlement of Davistown and White Oak two settlements near Bryantsville evidences of the use of whisky in those places was brought to the attention of the body, but no indictments could be found against any one for selling in violation of law. The Grand Jury was unable to determine whether the booze was sold in these places or secured from Nicholasville, where there is open saloons. In other parts of the County no unusual disorder could be heard by the Grand Jury. It should be gratifying to every citizen of Garrard County that such a body of men as composed this Grand Jury after such industrious investigation were able to report so favorably upon the conditions prevailing in the community.

FLATWOOD

Mr. and Mrs. John Longworth are visiting relatives in Virginia. Tem Scott who has been very sick of Pneumonia is now on the way to recovery. Rev Roberts, pastor of the Methodist church at Gowson chapel filled his regular appointment last Sunday. Mr. James Mosier of the union neighborhood died of Pneumonia on Saturday 15th. He was a very old man. Thomas Leavell a worthy old colored man of near Flatwoods died of old age on March 17. He was supposed to be about 93 years old.

For Skin Disorder.

The following powder given each day is said to be good for skin disorder in horses: Finely powdered iodine of potash, 4 ounces; granulated sugar and common salt, of each 1 pound. Mix well together and divide into thirty-two powders. Feed no corn, but let the grain feed be oats and wheat bran. Use tincture of iodine on the lumps every second day until the skin becomes a little tender.

Danger of Poor Ventilation.

If you want your sheep to die, shut them up in a tight pen where they cannot move about much, and stuff them with hay and grain all the time. The way to have healthy sheep is to let them have a spin around the lot every day.

Opening Up Drain Outlets.

A few hours spent now to see that all the drain outlets are well opened may save considerable delay on account of wet fields in the spring.

WHEN THEY MEET.

"Oh, it's you, is it?" murmurs the wife, meeting her husband at the reception. "Yes, Glad to see you," he smiles. "Had half an idea I'd run across you here." "Isn't it nice? Oh, there was something I wanted to ask you about—I thought of it just after I saw you at the theater the last time," she says. "It was something important, too. But it has entirely slipped my mind." "Well, maybe you'll think of it by the next time we meet I suppose you'll be at the horse show. Perhaps by then it will have occurred to you again."—Judge's Library.

Still Untasted. "What," asked Mrs. Oldcastle, as she picked up a volume of Limp Leather Edition of the Classics, "do you think of Thucydides?" "I really don't know," replied Mrs. Cottolotte, after she had straightened a corner of her $600 Royal Persian rug; "we've never had any. Josiah says they're no good unless you get them fresh and our grocer never seems to have any except the ones in cans."

AND HE IS PAINLESS.

Hobble Hones In the Ark. Mrs. Noah is downcast; observe her painted smile. Her gowns and those her daughters wear are strikingly in style.

Should Not Be Called Rags. An Englishman entertaining an American friend invited him to attend a little dinner. "I'll be pleased to come," said the Yankee. "Shall I wear my glad rags?" "No, no, no," said the cockney. "It's to be a evening dress, you know."

The American citizen smilingly explained that "glad rags" is a Yankee slang expression for evening dress, and let it go at that.

At the dinner later the Englishman was called on for a speech. The "glad rags" incident had made a profound impression on him, and this is what he told his friends: "My word, but those Yankees have some hally h'expressions. When H'I asked me friend to be h'our guest this h'evening 'e said 'e'd be chawin' to do so. 'But H'I say, h'old chap,' said 'e, 'shall H'I put on me mirthful tattered h'attire?' " "No," whispered the Yankee. "No Glad rags—rags."

"But they h'arn't rags, h'old chap, they h'arn't rags. H'anyone can see that your garments h'are es fashionable as h'our h'own."—Detroit Free Press.

Waiting on Broadway. The head waiter had shown him to a table in the gilt-and-marbled dining-room of a popular Broadway hotel.

For some minutes he sat patiently waiting for his waiter. Finally he managed to catch the eye of the assistant head waiter. "Will you please send me my waiter?" "I'd like to order." "Yes, sir. Right away, sir." Another long wait. Then he succeeded in getting the eye of the deputy assistant head waiter.

"Will you please send me a page boy?" "Yes, sir. Right away, sir." Another wait and the boy appeared. "Here's a quarter, boy. Please page my waiter."—New York Times.

EASTER EGGS ORIGINATED IN A QUEEN'S COURTSHIP

By MINERVA SPENCER HANDY.

WHEN Marguerite of Austria was in her youth and beauty she made a pilgrimage to the south of France to visit the shrine of her favorite saint. Some say it was to pray for a young and handsome husband. If so, her patron saint kindly granted the prayer in advance of the petition. On her way she stopped to rest for a few days at Bourg, a village on the edge of a deep forest and at the foot of the majestic Alps.

On Easter Monday the people for miles around met to engage in the customary Easter games. The young regent of the Netherlands from her place beside the chateau of the castle enjoyed the scene hugely. It was very interesting to watch the older men shooting at targets and easks of wine, the winner being allowed to put his lips to the cask and drink his fill. But when the young couples began to gather for the most exciting event of the day then the princess grew enthusiastic, for, you remember, she was young and fair, and even queens dream dreams of handsome, loving partners.

The moment arrived for the contest. One hundred eggs were scattered over the ground. A young man and a maid began the figure. While the on-lookers laughed it was a serious affair for the dancers. The couple that could skip over the eggs, glide between them, twirl about them in all the varied gyrations of the dance, without breaking or cracking an egg might marry each other in spite of the opposition of their parents. Each couple was allowed three trials, and the dance being successfully concluded, none dared oppose the union.

While the merrymaking was at its height the sound of a hunter's horn rang through the forest. Soon appeared a company of horsemen in such brilliant uniforms that the simple peasants stopped in their dance to gaze and wonder whom they might be. At their head rode a beautiful youth, dressed as only the nobles of the time dared dress. He sprang from his horse, bent a graceful knee to the chateau of the castle and requested her hospitality. Of course the hostess granted it at once, for this was Philibert, the handsome Duke of Savoy.

The dance, which the coming of the duke had interrupted, was now resumed with greater merriment than ever. After watching the dancers Marguerite in jest said, "I would that I were one of those simple peasants and might try the dance."

Philibert bowed low before the fair regent and said, "Madame, will you permit me to be your partner in the dance that is going on before us?"

This was equivalent to an offer of marriage, and, hearing it, the crown became wild with enthusiasm. Cries of "Austria!" and "Savoy!" rang through the air, and cheer followed cheer. Marguerite graciously acquiesced, and the handsome pair took their place in the dance. A serious task was before them. They must dance around and around eggs, between eggs, without breaking any. But members of the royal families were accustomed to the dance. The feet of the royal lady were as light as thistle-down, while those of the handsome knight were graceful in the extreme. When the dance ended not a single egg had been touched.

Love in those days was not long in kindling. When the duke gazed into the sparkling eyes and upon the glowing cheek of his partner in the egg dance he knew that the custom of the country wasn't going to be broken. And so it proved.

One year from the day the two were married. Their guests were given souvenirs of gold and silver eggs filled with spices which they called Easter eggs. This custom was continued on each anniversary in memory of that happy day in the forest when with beating hearts they together tripped the measures of the egg dance.

Instead of Wood Shingles or Slate

CORTRIGHT
Metal Shingles

The roofing that lasts as long as the building and never needs repairs.

They won't burn, crack, curl or rot like wood shingles, nor have they the great weight or brittleness of stone slate; besides they are inexpensive and look better than either.
